Employment History

Planner Designer, Aleksey Plakasov. Cherkassy, -

Jun. 2021 - Sep. 2021

I've worked at electrical company in Cherkasy, Ukraine, called Centrenergozbut.

Working with others and understanding the everyday duties of an electrical engineer inspired my choice of future major. At first, I struggled to understand the work that I was supposed to do since I had to learn many new programs and websites that were new to me. My work consisted of working on hourly planners, including selling and buying electricity on the market for other companies. People working with me double-checked my work to ensure I had completed it correctly.

With time I was improving at doing my job accurately, and as a result, I could submit it without needing assistance. Time and learning from others were the main reasons I succeeded in my position; it helped me understand my mistakes and improve my working experience. These efforts were meaningful because I was learning something new every day. When you get knowledge not only from books but are involved in the everyday working process, you achieve specific skills more quickly and succeed as a professional in the future.
